

[Published by Request] The Dying Carolinian.

As revised by Rev. E. S. V. Briant and sung by Miss Susie A. Sparks.

Oh! Brother Green do come to me,
For I am shot and bleeding;
Now I must die no more to see,
My wife and dear little children.

The Yankee foe has laid me low,
On this cold ground to suffer,
Stay brother stay and lay me away,
And write my wife a letter.

Tell her I am prepared to die,
I hope we'll meet in heaven;
That I believe in Jesus Christ,
My sins are all forgiven.

My wife I know she prayed for me,
I know her prayers were answered,
That I might be prepared to die,
If I should fall in battle.

My little babes I love them well,
Could I once more see them;
And bid them all a last farewell,
Till we meet in Heaven.

But here I am in Virginia,
And they in South Carolina,
Now I must die and buried be,
No more to hear their voices.

Dear Mary you must treat them well,
And train them up for Heaven,
Teach them to love and serve the Lord,
And they will be forgiven.

When all our works on Earth are done,
And all our troubles over,
We'll meet again in that bright world,
Where there is peace and pleasure.

Dear Father you have prayed for me,
And prayed for my salvation,
But I will be with you here at last,
Farwell to all temptation.

Your eyes are dim, your ears are deaf,
But oh, that wondrous story,
We'll meet again in that bright world,
And give to God the glory.

Tell sister Nancy not to grieve,
For the loss of her poor brother,
For I am gone with Christ to dwell
And see our blessed mother.

Dear sister Mary's gone there too;
I know she dwells with angels,
Brother Harris died while young,
I soon shall see their faces.

Your brother yet you can't forget,
Still fighting for our freedom;
For my dear wife I give my life
To put down this invasion.

I am dying Brother Green,
Oh, I do die so easy,
I think that death has lost its sting,
Because I love my Jesus.

Tell my wife she must not grieve,
But kiss my little children;
I know they'll call for me in vain,
When I am gone to glory.

THE RUMBLING MOUNT.

Final Ascent and Return of the Herald Correspondent.

HISTORY OF THE QUAKING OF THE EARTH.

THE RELIGIOUS EXCITEMENT.

Professor Dupre's Ideas of the Conversions.

[Correspondent N. Y. HERALD.]

THE VULCANIC REGION.

Via MARION, N. C., March, 23, 1874.

After a hard night's ride from near Chimney Rock your correspondent reached here this morning, having ridden nearly 150 miles in five days through what seemed to be an interminable rain storm, and over the roughest and muddest roads it had ever been his bad fortune to encounter. These wild though beautiful regions, but so little known to the outside world, have afforded much excitement and painful anxiety within the past few weeks. And well may Mother Earth seem in such a state of convulsion that Vesuvius has been threatened with an American rival. On the 18th inst., finding it impossible to obtain horses at Old Port, the Herald's correspondent started from this point towards Bald Mountain, understanding that it was some twenty-eight miles distant. But he had travelled nearly twelve ere nightfall, when he learned that the mountain was still thirty-one miles away. This did not look much like progress, but we pushed forward until we reached a farmhouse, the occupants of which informed him that they had experienced shocks from the mountain. During this night the Herald man experienced the first of the shocks of which he had already heard so much. They commenced with a noise like that of a smothered blast, and were followed by a low rumbling sound, which continued for some twenty-five or thirty seconds.

AN ATTEMPT TO ASCEND.

The next morning, after various endeavors to get a guide and finding such a thing impossible, your correspondent started up the mountain alone. The scenery was perfectly grand, but soon became obscured by a thick fog and a blinding rain which forced him to the good old farmer's house, where he had stayed the night before, and here an interesting interval was employed in hearing the stories of the people. It seemed as though there were a telegraphic agency at work in the country, for many people gathered at the house at which they had heard that there were strangers in their midst making inquiries as to the shaking. One of them said he owed about $50 and he had two cows and a horse which he would sell for that money, because he did not want to go out of the world owing a cent to any man. The facts concerning the beginning of the disturbance have already been forwarded by telegram to the Herald, the reports about the conversion of over fifty terror-stricken white people by George Logan, a colored preacher, a new convert.

The prayer meetings held at Elliott's house, at the base of Stone Mountain, were of the most enthusiastic nature. The house was crowded almost to suffocation, many seekers after religion being perched upon the joists of the house.

During the continuance of the prayer meeting on the fifth day a perfect Rip Van Winkle appeared in the person of old Major Bende, an illicit distiller, who carried on his sinful traffic in the very bowels of the mountain, and who had been rarely seen by human save those who paid him surreptitious visits for the purpose of obtaining a measure of his illicitly concocted but soothing corn juice. His gray locks hung wildly over his bent shoulders, his beard was long and covered his breast, and his face was as pale as that of a ghost. Shaking his head, he said, "Hit's a comin', and thar aint no use a talkin'." If you wish had a ben sluk as I have you wouldn't be a wantin' nuthin' but religion." The old man then told how he heard the rumbling noise and thought at first that it was thunder and then when he experienced the shaking he got uneasy, and for the time since the war, determined to go down the mountain.

He thought the world was coming to an end and that the best thing he could do would be to mend his way and quit distilling. He broke up all of his still tubs, poured his malt down the Mountain sides and was now in search of a revenue officer to whom he could confess his transgressions against the government. When he came to inquire he found that the revenue officers had fled the night before. They had appeared at Mr. Elliott's and attended a prayer meeting, during which two severe shocks occurred, which so frightened them that they ordered their horses and put off in a hurry. The narration of these facts so increased Major Bende's uneasiness that he got upon his knees and begged to be baptized at once.

WILLIAM LOGAN, THE WHITE PRACHER.

now appeared upon the scene and relieved his colored brother from much of his labor. He is as perfect a specimen of a mountain hero as ever I saw. He has a splendid physique, a really handsome face, and, though without much education, has great natural intelligence. While he counselled his people to keep cool and fear nothing, he impressed upon them the importance of becoming converted and to change the tunes of their ways in the past. He preached especially as to God's great power, as exemplified in the movements now going on the mountain, and many were the conversions consequent upon this oration. The people crowd around him and listened to his words as a child would to a mother's lullaby.

A NIGHT OF TERROR.

On Friday afternoon I resumed my line of march, and by night had reached the neighborhood of the Widow Nan's who resides near the base of the cone of Stone Mountain where the greatest disturbance had been heard. My host for the night was very close in his opinions as to my observations, and gave me very plainly to understand that unless I imparted to him the fullest information in my possession I could not count him as a friend. Said he, "stranger, I'm glad to see ye; I would be glad to see a hundred of ye. I'm all alone here with my family, and I'm so afraid of this mountain and its noises that I'm high gone crazy." I comforted the old man as best I could and retired at an early hour. At about eleven o'clock I was awakened by a very sensible shaking and rumbling. Shock after shock succeeded each other, the noise resembling very much that of the unloading of very heavy timber, and at times so sudden and sharp that it seemed impossible to sleep. At twelve o'clock a thunder storm accompanied the noise, and so great was the combined effect that my host called us to join in prayer. This invitation, while thoroughly appreciated, was respectfully declined inasmuch as it was not possible to pray with sincerity and sleep at the same time. The old man was much shocked at the declaration and prayed for my spiritual safety. The family did not sleep at all during the night but kept up singing and praying until daylight.

ANOTHER ATTEMPT TO ASCEND.

On Friday morning at about six o'clock I started up the mountain again by myself, and took the chances of finding the way. The road, or rather bridle path, led up a steep ascent, which somewhat resembled a camel's back, and I had gotten to its top the rumbling noise commenced. On either side of me were precipitous hundreds of feet in height, and my path was not more than ten feet in width. Or my left was a waterfall gradually descending from the top of the mountain for some 2,000 feet. At one point this stream broke forth to the size of a man's leg, and falling over 200 feet was caught by a projecting ledge, where the stream was spread into the shape of an aqueous arbor. To describe the beauty and grandeur of the scene would be simply impossible. At about seven o'clock I heard a low rumbling, and

MY HORSE BEGAN TO TREMBLE

The rumbling was succeeded by sharp reports, like that of heavy artillery, which so frightened the animal that he wheeled around suddenly, and by a motion of the head broke the right bridle rein, and this left him beyond my control. Seeing a large oak tree in front of me, I skinned for the most obtainable bough, and was enabled to save myself from the offices of an undertaker, although smartly bruised and forced to bid my faithful steed a temporary farewell. I returned to the house of the praying farmer with whom I had got myself into such bad repute.

I subsequently succeeded in securing a guide to ascend the mountain with me, and I can simply repeat that the rumbling sounds were continuous and terrifying. Professor Dupre, whose arrival I duly announced to you, says briefly and tersely:

"I am not satisfied as to the nature of these movements; but I think they are sufficient to attract the attention and inquiry of the scientific world."

Gather up the Evidence.

As there is a slight prospect that the illegal cotton tax paid by the Southern people will be repaid, we recommend to our planting friends to overhaul their old papers and gather up the evidence necessary to establish their claims. The amount of the tax was enormous. We believe it was three cents per pound, which would be $15 on a 500 pound bale. On two and a half millions bales this tax would amount to $37,000,000. It was continued, we think, two or three years, so that the sum to be refunded will probably reach a hundred millions or more. The restitution of this money will be of vast service to the South, if wisely used.—Rome Commercial.

WINEGARDENERS

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGARDENERS the most reliable and permanent that ever sustained the sinking system.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bowels are not destroyed by mineral poison, either in the form of pills or cathartics, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent, and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to Dr. J. C. WALKER'S VINEGARDENERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored bile, and cleanse the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGARDENERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fortified.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulder, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Bloating, Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Sleeplessness, the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offerings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Serofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swollen Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Eruptions, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional diseases, WALKER'S VINEGARDENERS have the most powerful and active powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGARDENERS occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Itchiness, Spots, Pimples, Pusules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ringworms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurs, Decolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no purgatives, no cathartics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

The Political Outlook.

So far things have gone in more than a satisfactory manner to the Democratic party outside of Alabama, and within all is encouraging for the future.

A few days ago we had the pleasure of recording the fact that New Hampshire had effectively "put a head on" Radicalism in that State. This week we record a still more striking victory in Connecticut—Connecticut the faithful among the faithful. The latest dispatches from that State puts Ingersoll's (Democratic) majority at two thousand five hundred, and this with an independent Temperance ticket in the field which necessarily detracted some thousands from the Democratic strength. The Senate in Connecticut stands 17 Democrats to 4 Republicans, and the House 148 Democrats to 96 Republicans.

In our own State the prospect is not less flattering. The Radicals are whistling to keep their courage up it is true but a careful perusal of their papers, (and every Radical paper in the State comes to this office) is sufficient to convince any one that they are hopeless of success. Negroes have left the State in large numbers. Numbers of them remaining will never cast another Radical vote except in Presidential elections, and the white men are more determined, bar monious and unanimous than they have ever been known to be. We have yet to hear of the first man who "does not know whether or not he will come to the polls." On the contrary we never saw a more fixed determination of the people to come to the polls, and register their protest against the iniquities of Radicalism. While the Democratic press may apparently differ on the bond question, it is a difference without a distinction, and can work no disruption of the party as the Radicals fondly hope. All of us are agreed that we will pay our honest debts and no more. On that there is no division. While, as has been said, the press may be as distinct as the billows on minor questions of party policy, before the Convention, they will be one as the sea after that exponent of people's wishes has spoken. Let no Radical sheet lay the flattering unction to its soul that there is to any division of the Democratic party in this State. To come nearer home, and refer to Calhoun, let us say to these Radicals in the county who may be fostering a hope that in the multiplicity of candidates, there is a chance of success for them, that no Radical can ever again hold office in Calhoun. Before the election means will be devised to make this a fixed fact. And we say to any who may be cherishing any such hope, that they are doomed to disappointment.

"We ask the free, independent, and capable young men of Alabama, if they will forever consent to a divorce from positions they could easily attain unto but for the intervention of King Canine? Let them come over and luxuriate in the green pastures furnished to all the honest and capable by the great Republican party of the nation."

Montgomery State Journal (Rad.)

This is exactly a radical's idea of patriotism and adhesion to party. Spoils, spoils, spoils, are the text of their political creed, and their objective point in the administration of Government. The young men of Alabama scorn your offer, Mr. Radical, and would kick you for suggesting it, if near enough to your person to inflict the merited punishment. We speak as one of the young men of Alabama, and for them, when we say that death were preferable to the dishonor of association with your sort.

We heard Mr. Parsons detail one of the most horrible of murders perpetrated by the k-k-ks in Calhoun County. It was a case which he had assisted in investigating. And his recital was so harrowing as almost to astound even the Democratic members themselves. The "victim" was a Christian gentleman, and his only crime was that he had taught, in a Sunday school, colored children the story of the Cross—Montgomery State Journal, (Rad.)

"Whose only crime" was that he instigated a lot of ignorant negroes to fire a volley into a congregation of innocent worshippers, male and female, just emerging from a church in Cross Plains. And did Mr. Parsons tell how the Court of which he was the spirit, issued an order to the U. S. Soldiers on guard to shoot down the prisoners in case of attempted rescue? Every one of whom were proven guilty before Mr. Parsons's tribunal after a ninety day's trial. And did Mr. Parsons go on to say how the same Court denied one of the prisoners or witnesses the privilege of going to a dying wife? Did Mr. Parsons touch upon the character of his examination of witnesses and his attempt to manufacture political capital out of their utterances? If he did not he only told half the truth.

Democrats Victorious Everywhere

We have not the space or time at this writing to give all the telegraphic dispatches which come to us this week announcing victories of the Democrats everywhere. Suffice it to say that the Radicals have been ignominiously defeated at almost every point, all along the line. To give our readers some idea of the completeness and universality of the victory, we give, in addition to sweeping victory in Connecticut, the names of towns and cities all over the country that have gone Democratic in their municipal elections. In some of these there have been changes in favor of the Democratic party as high as seven thousand votes. Below is the list:

Cincinnati, Ohio, Democratic by 5000; Columbus, Ohio, Democratic by 1500; Evansville, Indiana, Democratic victory; Dayton, Ohio, elected Democratic mayor. In Michigan the Democrats were victorious in the following towns and cities: Niles, Port Huron, Pontiac, Battle Creek, Bay City, Grand Rapids, Lansing and Muskegon. In Missouri the Democrats carry the cities of St. Louis and St. Joseph. Cleveland, Ohio, and Kansas City go Democratic. It is true that these elections are for city officials, but they no less for that show how the cat is about to jump.

In Alabama, Jacksonville, Talladega and Courtland have started the ball with sweeping Democratic victories. Keep it rolling.

In response to an invitation from the Advertiser, we publish the following list as the committee appointed to invite the Georgia and New York Press Associations to meet at the Alabama Association in Birmingham Messrs. Cooke, Hale, Woods, Matthews and Randolph. The time of meeting of the next annual convention was fixed by resolution for the third Tuesday of May next.

The members of the New York Press Association have already signified their intention to be present, and among them is said Henry Ward Beecher who will be present. Montgomery and other cities will extend hospitalities.

The recent flood in Louisiana, and the very rainy season in this part of the Country will be likely to cut the cotton crop somewhat short. These causes combined with the passage of the bill in Congress, inflicting the currency, some eighty millions of dollars, (if the act is not evaded) will materially advance the price of cotton.

Immigration and Direct Trade with Europe.

As will be seen from the following dispatch the officers of the State Grange are taking the right steps in a right direction. It is unnecessary to remind our readers that this is the true mission, along insisted that this is the true mission of the Patrons of Husbandry in Alabama.

Montgomery, April 3.—Light frost this morning; no damage. The officers of the State Grange, in session here for two days; adopted a resolution looking to co-operation with the Georgia Grange in the matter of direct trade with Europe. A plan was proposed for uniting the two Granges, which it is believed will result in success.

(Communicated.)

A Few Words to the Grangers

If the Granges will confine their work to the original object with which they were instituted,—the development of all kinds of farming industries,—they may accomplish a vast deal.

But the new-fangled doctrines and principles which they have in many places mixed with their original purpose, can come to no good. The attempt to establish any form of co-operative association on a large scale must prove a failure.

The whole current of history and the essential nature of man in his social and political relations force the thoughtful observer to the conviction that no form of communism, however slight the co-operative element, can be maintained in the long run. There have been many such experiments, and most of them have had a temporary success, nor is there any reason why success should not at any time attend efforts of the kind, so long as they are restricted to a narrow area. But the moment really large numbers and a vast territory are subjected to the rule of the co-operative principle, diverse interests, conflicting claims, and opposing opinions and prejudices clash with the principle and read under the bond that held together as by enough the little society that set out with such fair hopes of forever excluding the world.

It is a law, not of humanity alone, but of all nature as well, that growth brings change, and that great expansion produces varieties so numerous that it takes great study and knowledge to trace the original identity. In man, especially, character will assert itself, personal energies must have their full play, and no form of association can long repress individuality. In human societies, therefore, the time inevitably comes for the conflict of minorities with the majority; and the minorities in the end grow strong enough to destroy the associative principle. This has been the history of every form of communism, where it has been let alone. It has sometimes been crushed by the more or less rationally organized society outside of it. The introduction, then, of the co-operative principle into the Granges is a blunder, and will bear evil fruit.

The principle of antagonism to other forms of industry—the transportation power in the community, for instance,—is also a mistake, and can only proceed from ignorance of the laws of political economy. Trade is eminently self-regulative, and legislative interference with it is always productive of evil,—evil that in the end falls on the farmer, for the real wealth of the civilized world is based on the soil. These things adjust themselves much better than any class agitation can adjust them. Let the farmer only take care that there is no legislative interference on the other side, that money from the public treasury and the public credit are not bestowed on enterprises which ought to be purely of a private character, that the sound old doctrine be maintained which declares government to be a conservative, not a beneficiary or a charity institution.

One word as to a tendency which many think they discern in the Granges, and which I frankly confess I cannot but think lurks in those novelties I have just been discussing—the tendency to become, like almost everything else in this suffering-cursed country, a mere tool in the hands of the politicians, a new form of political machinery. Some even had the prospect with delight, rejoicing in the looked for birth of a new political party.

Now all this may suit other latitudes very well; but it seems to me, we of the South have had such experience of the kind of faith the great "national" parties keep with us and of the kind of service we may expect from them in return for our fidelity to their cause, that if we have any common sense left—which I often doubt,—we will keep very clear of contact with any form of "national" politics, mind our own business strictly, develop our resources, live honestly, trust in God, and wait for events. "Patience, and shuffle the cards," said Don Quixote to Don Quixote in the cave of Montesinos; and patience, it seems to me, is the true statesmanship for the South in her present captivity.

At any rate, let us not destroy the true usefulness of the Granges by embarking them on that Dead Sea and stifling them with the poisonous air that hangs over it. Let the Devil have his own, but not the fair things that were meant for nobler ends. Husbandry is one of the noblest of human employments. It was the earliest of all arts or professions, and it has been esteemed by great races—notably the Romans—who despised all other occupations, save only war. It is capable of almost infinite development, and our soils and climates are so varied that we have here in the South the largest scope for successful effort in almost every form of husbandry. Co-operation for the simple end of mutual counsel and instruction and a few other purposes is highly advantageous and not likely to come to the speedy end which would infallibly overtake closer forms of association. Confine your Granges, then, to these simple, practical, and practicable objects.

My only interest in the matter is that of a Southern man, who loves his country. I never owned an inch of land nor a dollar in railway stock, have never been a candidate for public honors, and don't expect ever to be. But I do take an interest in the Grange movement, and hope that our farmers will keep it clean,—above all, keep it from being tainted by the politicians.

LETTER FROM TEXAS.

Barton Texas, March 21st, 1874.

EDITHS REPUBLICAN.

GENTLEMEN:—As I have not received a copy of your valuable paper for some time, and thinking my subscription about out I enclose $2.00 subscription for one year.

Please see that it is mailed regularly to me at Barton, Washington County, Texas, as it is always a pleasant visitor with us.

We have had quite a pleasant winter, and the Spring is upon us. Farmers are busily preparing their lands for another crop, and some of them are planting corn. We have flattering prospects for a bountiful crop this year. The crops last year were cut very short by a late spring and too much rain.

The cattle on the prairie have not fallen off a great deal in flesh, and consequently we have plenty of cattle now on the range fit enough for excellent beef. The prairie look green and gay and everything indicates a good crop year.

Our little towns are in a flourishing condition, and a great many brick buildings going up at Brenham.

There are more or less emigrants arriving at the time from the Old States, and the term used here for states east of the Mississippi River.

We have a system of Free Schools here now that is a perfect success and all schools are in a healthy condition. The different Benevolent Societies and Orders are also in a fine way, such as Masons, Odd Fellows, and Temperance Councils.

And as you can see through the news papers the movements of our State Government, it is useless to say more, than we have since the end of December last thrown off the cursed yoke of Radicalism and chosen our own rulers, and in our choice, we choose men of honor and integrity, such as Richard Coke, and I R. Hubbard men who represent the people of Texas and not mere tools for a party to use on the machinery of the Government.

They are men that are not afraid to do the will of the people who put them in power.

The next meeting with expectation by the Texas Party, but they failed, but took the Bill by the horns, and hoisted him and his associates out of the herd.

Our Representatives, said, by their acts we represent a mighty people and have come to do their will.

But like a drowning man the Radicals hang on as long as there was a ray of hope. But that cold wave from Washington murmured "it would not be better to submit to the voice of the people and let Texas rule herself."

The Alabama boys in Texas, as a general thing are all doing well.

Mr. P. A. Booker, the young man who came to this State with me in Brownwood, Brown county, following the business of Civil Surveying, and locating land in the frontier counties of Texas. Any business entrusted to his care will be promptly and properly attended to.

We received a complimentary copy of the Galveston News a few days since from J. B. Turley. He is in the Commission of the United States, Mr. C. S. Montgomery, his traveling man, called on us a short time ago. He informed us that Jim was doing well; he opened a business late in the fall, but had received a liberal share of the cotton and wool, and was well satisfied with that part of his business.

My friend Mr. H. C. Smith has gone into the Grocery business and is doing well, and considering the shortness of last year's crop.

I remain Yours Respectfully, J. M. GORE.

The Good Time is Coming

The present year promises to be the year of disengagement from tyranny and misrule, and we have good reason to hope that the dark day of the American Republic is drawing to a close.

The year 1874 promises to be renowned in history as the great year, when the people of the United States regained their lost liberty, and hurled from power the most corrupt party that ever ruled, (and almost ruined) a country. In this year of Grace eighteen, of the thirty-eight States, elected Governor thirty-five elect Legislatures, and thirty-three of the Legislatures to be elected, chose U. S. Senators.

Michigan, Missouri, Nebraska, Nevada, New York, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia, West Virginia, Indiana, Connecticut, Florida and Wisconsin elect Senators, and from the present appearance of the political atmosphere, we may safely judge that three-fourths of the newly elected will be Democrats.

All are now represented in the U. S. Senate by Radicals of the worst stamp. The first election comes off on Monday, the 6th inst., in Connecticut, and as the first gun fired in New Hampshire had a telling effect, we look for number two to be equally as effective.

Prudent men of the South we implore you to be of good cheer! Unite and organize your forces in battle array, for a grand tilt with your foes, the enemies of freedom, civilization, and progress! Victory is within our grasp, the goal is in sight! Organize, organize, and may God defend the right!

Jefferson Independent!

The church property in the United States, is estimated to be worth $250,000,000. It is in the hands of the poor suffering if put to that object.

Negro Ku-Klux.

The Eufaula News of the 4th, contains particulars of the murder of a negro boy by three other negroes, under most horrible circumstances. The murdered man had married a girl, against the wishes of Daniel Brooks, her step-father, and in going to Brooks for his wife, Brooks turned on him some violent dogs, but the boy knowing them, they did not hurt him. About 12 o'clock last Thursday night, Brooks, Alex. Slaughter and Robinson, all colored men, armed respectively with a double-barrelled shot gun, a pistol and a bludgeon, went to Mr. Aiston's and enquired for Nathan, and told Mr. A. they were hunting him and intended when they found him to kill him—that Nathan had brought Brooks dogs off and had shot at Brooks.

Mr. A. asked Brooks how he knew Nathan shot at him—Brooks replied that he heard the report of a pistol about his lot, but said he had not seen Nathan or the pistol either.

Aiston tried to persuade them to desist and let the law take its course, but they said Nathan would not be punished by the law, and they would fix themselves, and they did not regard the law. Aiston then ordered them off and they went to Mr. Edward Garland's place and there found Nathan in a negro house in to which they forced an entrance. Nathan hid under the bed. They presented their fire arms and told him to come out or they would blow his brains out. He came out, and they seized him and carried him to the house of the gang three miles to Brooks' house where they tied him and beat him to death with a buggy trace. At sunrise, on the morning of the 2nd inst., poor Nathan's corpse, most horribly mangled, was found in the wagon body of Brooks, under a shelter in a negro house. Brooks and his party were seen hurriedly making a long box, it was supposed to bury him. As soon as the corpse was discovered Brooks and his co-murderers fled, without even waiting for writ of habeas corpus, or a message from the Judge of the City Court, the immaculate Kells.

The Proposed Georgia Educational Journal.

The following circular has been received by some of our teachers. We publish it, in the hope that so commendable an enterprise will find many friends in Alabama. An educational journal for the States south of Virginia is a marked need, as neither the admirable journal established at Richmond nor that published at Louisville, fully meets the wants of so large a section as is comprised in the States of Georgia, South Carolina, Florida, and Alabama.

Savannah, Ga., March 16th, 1874.

DEAR SIR

At the next meeting of the "GEORGIA TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION," in Macon, a committee will be expected to report on the feasibility of organizing an educational journal as the organ of the Association. Before this report can be made, it will be necessary for the committee to know how large a list of subscribers may be expected. It is proposed to organize a monthly journal, of the usual size, at $1.50 per annum. You will be kind enough to forward to the undersigned, at your earliest convenience, the names of such subscribers as you can guarantee; also the names of any who may be willing to insert standing advertisements, in case the Association decide to publish the journal.

Very respectfully yours, W. L. C. STEVENS, Treasurer Georgia Teachers' Association.

A stranger of our acquaintance propounded the following conundrum: the other day. Says he:

"Why is a Radical and Brindly plow alike?"

"Because neither one, are good, for anything until they are put in the ground."

NOTICE! is hereby given that there will be a meeting of the County Council of Calhoun County, on Tuesday, after the first Sabbath in May, at Jacksonville. W. R. Hanna, President.

See names of additional candidates in the column.

Our village gossip is crowded out this week.

Sp. is still disposing of fine tin ware or wire at reduced rates.

The attention of Land buyers is invited to the advertisements of Messrs. White-side and Tague, who are now offering two valuable and well known farms for sale on favorable terms.

The West and South having united on the question of indation, the New York Herald now talks loudly of a new Secession and a new war—the North and East to secede and begin the fight this time. Well, "Barkis is willin'."

We have received a very interesting letter from our fellow-countryman Mr. Zermi Henderson from the Hot Springs, Ark., whither he has gone for his health. We are also indebted to him for a pamphlet descriptive of the place.

Persons who may wish to send to neighboring cities for special articles of Dress, Goods, etc. invited to notice the card in another column of Mr. W. F. Turnley, formerly of this place, now with Chamberlin, Boynton & Co., Atlanta, Ga.

A Reminder.—We return thanks to our numerous patrons who have so kindly come up to our assistance in the payment of their subscriptions lately. While many have done well in this respect, there are still some others who ought to settle, and we hope to see such avail themselves of the coming term of the Circuit Court to do so. Candidates who have not as yet settled are not excluded from this invitation.

The music class of Calhoun College and the Female Academy, will give a concert in the Female Academy on Wednesday the 15th at 7 o'clock p. m. The programme is a very fine one, and the entertainment will be first class in every respect. Admission 50 and 25 cents. Proceeds to go to benefit of Academy. The whole will be under the supervision of Mrs. Lockett, and Mr. Snow. We wish to see a large attendance, and hope the evening may prove to be a fair one.

THE HISTORICAL DEMONSTRATION SOCIETY will meet at College Hall on this (Friday) evening at 7 o'clock. A full attendance is especially desired as business of importance will be transacted and an election for officers for the ensuing term will be held. HONORARY MEMBERS will please attend without fail.

By order of the President

We call the attention of our readers to a communication in another column directed to the Grangers. It was written by one of the most thoughtful and cultivated gentlemen of this portion of Alabama, and is worthy of the very highest consideration.

Rev. R. J. C. Hall will preach in the Presbyterian Church next Sabbath, at the hour of 11 o'clock a. m.

We learn that there was quite a serious run off on the Selma, Rome and Dalton Railroad, last night. It occurred about 9 o'clock, a short distance from Selma. The cause of the accident we do not learn. The engine, tender, and two cars were badly wrecked, and the fireman and one brakeman were seriously injured. The former having one leg badly crushed. The train which met with the accident was No. 1 passenger going north.—Selma Times

The accident on the Selma, Rome and Dalton Railroad on Monday night, was caused by a defective tressel over a creek about ten miles above Patuxent. When the engine went on to it the tressel gave way and the engine was precipitated into the creek some fifteen or twenty feet below. The tender, mail, and express car, and second class coach were killed in the crash. The first car had both legs so frightfully crushed that he died in a few hours. One of the brakemen was dangerously, if not fatally injured. The debris was cleared away in a short time and there was no interruption of trains. No blame for the accident can attach to the railroad, for it was one of those things that the most extraordinary foresight can not prevent.—Selma Times

TALLADEGA, April 7,

The Democrats and Conservatives have gained a glorious victory in our city election. Our counted and acknowledged majority is about twelve, and thirty-five known and acknowledged illegal votes were cast against us. The Republicans made the most desperate attempt since reconstruction to carry the day, but the Caucasians won, as Caucasians ever will. The race issue alone saved us, and colored vote increased. A prominent Radical acknowledged, last night, that this contest would decide the November election. The Republicans gained only, by admitted fraud, thirty votes.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—The ease of South Carolina was considered to-day by the Judiciary Committee of the House, who appointed a sub-committee consisting of Tremaine, of New York; Eldridge, of Wisconsin; and White, of Alabama, to hear both sides. Next Monday morning was appointed for the hearing. The Tax-payers' Delegation has appointed Porter, Kershaw, Butler, Elliot, Lathers, and S. J. Simmons; a sub-committee to conduct their case. The rest of the delegations return home to-morrow. The point now aimed at, is to induce the Judiciary Committee to recommend an investigating committee so that Congress may become officially cognizant of the condition of South Carolina. This is considered an indispensable preliminary to congressional action.

BALD MOUNTAIN.

"Sawbones" Elucidates the Cussedness of Newspaper Humanity.

NEAR THE VOLCANIC REGION, March 19.—"H—B" aloft in the mountain!—"Old Baldy"—Preparatory to erupting!—"Smoke!"—"The Earth Quakings Trotting!"—"I heard all this, and I could not stand it. I had never seen a volcano; so I mounted my horse and put out for 'Old Baldy.' The news got worse the farther I went. As I approached the mountain I met the natives getting men, women, children and dogs. They begged me to turn back, and sang, 'Turn, sinner, turn, and I think some of them prayed for me. It beat old Mrs. Ward's saloon at Greenville. I struck a leading spur of old Baldy and rode up as far as I could ride. Then I dismounted, hitched my horse and walked on. Where the spur joined the main mountain, my way was obstructed by perpendicular rocks. I could see smoke from the top; but I could not hear the rumbling. I climbed up and around the mountain to avoid the rocks. After proceeding for some time, I began to hear the rumbling. It appeared to be below me and farther around the mountain. I got on a high point, from which there was a commanding view below. The rumbling from this point was terrible and unaccountable. Just here I saw a sight that astonished me more than if the earth yawned at my feet. I saw a wagon, with four mules, driven furiously around the side of the mountain. It had on it an old-fashioned wago—bed, and from it noise, there was a few loose rocks in it. How the thing held together, bounding about over the rocks, is unaccountable. It went a few hundred yards, and turned round. It stopped about ten minutes as if to rest the mules; then, here it came again. The road (if it could be called a road) was about four hundred yards long. It would turn and rest the mules at each end. I saw it make several trips. Then I took a drink from my flask, and scrambled down to this Devil's turnpike. I placed myself by the side of the road, to wait for the wagon. In a few minutes here it came. The driver did not see me until he was within fifty steps of me. He appeared astonished, stood up in his stirrups (he was riding one of the mules), and tried to bluff me by yelling out:

"Get out of the way, you d—d fool!"

As soon as he spoke I knew him. It was George Sikes. He used to live over in Birmingham when Alabama was part of Birmingham. I picked up a couple of rocks and placed myself in the middle of the road. Then he stopped and I went for him. Said I, "George, if you don't want to be killed from that mule with one of these 'bricks,' talk fast."

"Talk what?" said he.

"Volcano," said I.

"Now look here, Sawbones" (he always called me Sawbones). "You know that I am a poor man. I am paid by the editors to do this."

"But how about the smoke and fire?" He said one of his boys was on top and with sticks and was leaving him kept up a smoke. At night they built a fire.

"How about the blow out?"

Here George laughed outright. He said the natives were very skittish when they heard the rumbling, but when the blow up came, they incontinently tumbled. He had buried a keg of powder about eight feet deep, inserted a tin tube in the keg, tramped in the dirt, lit a slow match and then blew out!

"They say they hear this rumbling to Old Fort?"

"O, yes! They hear it there. They will hear it in New York soon. The news is spreading mighty fast! Sawbones, for God sake give me one of the tobacco you have about you—go home to your family and keep your mouth shut."

I did come home to my family to meet me. The first word was "volcano." I told him the volcano was all right, but that the news of human nature was breaking my heart, and that if he didn't get in the house and make me a strong cup of coffee, there would be a volcano right here. He went. Not being a strong-minded creature, he consequently does what I ask him to do.

If you are in the "volcano" business you can suppress this. I do not want to injure any man's business, and this volcano-earthquake news is mighty exciting reading.

The Memphis Avalanche says the Grangers at Rind, Miss., received last week from Liverpool the sum of $5,000 in gold in return for cotton shipped there on account of its members, the result of which experiment proves to be a serious loss. Had the cotton been shipped to Memphis the realization in currency would have purchased over $5,000 in gold. It is evident the zeal of the Grangers is leading to serious errors, besides which there are many of our country friends who have an appreciation of the relation of greenbacks and gold to one another. For example, one of the members of the above Grange, wishing some gold, had his proportion of the shipment spoken of, paid another member $50 in currency for $40 in gold. In Memphis he could have bought the gold for $44.80.

The Connecticut Election.

The Democratic victory in New Hampshire last month has been followed by a far greater victory in the State of Connecticut, and from the telegraphic dispatches at hand at the hour we write, a result is given which should cause a shout of joy to go up all over our broad land. The Democrats have literally swept by a majority of about three thousand over the combined opposition and securing an overwhelming majority in both branches of the Legislature. This secures a Democratic United States Senator; and consequently the importance of the victory can hardly be overestimated. Verily those "monstrousities" seem to be acting and disintegrating the Republican party at a most gratifying rate. Credit Mobilier, the condition of Louisiana and South Carolina, the immense rascality of Government officers, Sanborn contracts and Butlerism, have united to disintegrate the Republican party, and arouse the people of the United States to the perilous condition of the country. Are not these recent political events evidences of an awakening of the people, and has not a mighty revolution that shall sweep the land set in, not to stop until the seal of condemnation has been placed upon the enormities now existing in the public service? Are not the people of the North realizing that they must act if they would save what is still left to them, and will not the ball continue to roll and other States wheel into line? We think so, and it seems to us that a new era is dawning and that the ship of State is to have a change of commanders and once more to use as a chart the constitution of the country. Let us at least hope.

PAIN-KILLER.

Time Tests The Merits of All Things.

THIRTY YEARS is certainly long enough time to prove the efficacy of any medicine and the Pain-Killer is deserving of all its proprietors claim for it, is amply proved by the unparalleled popularity it has attained. It is sure and effective. It is sold in almost every country in the world, and it needs only to be known to be tried, and its reputation as a medicine of Great Britain, is fully and permanently established. It is the great family medicine of the age. It is sold in every household, in every hotel, in every office, in every shop, in every store, in every public place, in every private residence, in every hospital, in every prison, in every asylum, in every workhouse, in every factory, in every mine, in every field, in every city, in every village, in every hamlet, in every town, in every county, in every State, in every Nation, in every part of the world.

Pain is supposed to be the lot of us poor mortals, as inevitable as death, and liable at any time to come upon us. Therefore, it is important that we should have a remedy at hand to relieve us, when we are afflicted by the excruciating agony of such a terrible ailment as this "Pain-Killer" is the name of which has been extended over all the earth. And the benefits of the "Pain-Killer" are the most innumerable and the most certain of any medicine ever known and applied. And he suffering humanity has found relief from many of its ills. The effect of the Pain-Killer upon the patient, when taken internally in cases of Cough, Cold, Hoarse Croup, Cholera, Diarrhea, and other affections of the system, has been truly wonderful, and has won for it a name among medical preparation that can never be forgotten. Its success in relieving pain in external injuries, such as Burns, Bruises, Sores and sprains, Cuts, Stings, Insects, &c., and other cases of suffering has secured for it the most prominent position among the medicines of the day. Beware of counterfeits and worthless imitations. Call for Perry Davis' Vegetable Pain-Killer, and take none other.

THE PAIN-KILLER is sold by all the Druggists and Dealers in Family Medicines.

Sustain the Sinking System.

The flashes of excitement produced by the stimulants in ordinary use are followed by a reaction that is always more or less injurious. Just as the darkness, illuminated for a moment by the lightning's glare, becomes apparently blacker than ever after the flash is over, so the mental gloom and physical debility that result temporarily under the influence of a dash, return with a ten-fold intensity when the first transient effect ceases. Very physicians habitually prescribe the liquors of commerce for patients suffering from both weakness and mental despondency. The true reason in such cases is a pure stimulant medicated with the finest tonics and alteratives which the vegetable kingdom affords, and Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the only preparation at present known which thoroughly meets the emergency. The efficacy of this popular restorative is continuous. Each dose takes invigorates the vital energies and the brain, and its prolonged use will unquestionably cure any case of debility, hysteria, or neuralgia, or any of the diseases that are mentioned in the columns of the medicine it is, in the strictest sense of the word, an invigorating and regulating cordial. If the nerves are weak and the appetite is poor, if the bowels are constipated, it relieves them; if the liver is torpid, it promotes activity in that organ; if the mind is gloomy, it clears away the clouds; if the appetite is poor and digestion a slow and painful operation, it creates a relish for food and enables the stomach to convert it into healthful aliment. Moreover, it is a specific for a large number of ailments, some of which are particularly prevalent in the damp and chilly weather which we are so apt to experience in mid winter. Among them may be mentioned rheumatism, chills and fever and all the morbid conditions of the digestive and secretory organs superinduced by sudden changes of temperature and the inclemencies of the season.

LUNG BALSAM.

Dr. P. MARSHALL, Dentist, Office No. 123

Just sixth street, states as follows:—

Oct. 1, 1868.

Messrs. J. N. HARRIS & Co.

Gent.—About one year ago I took a cold which settled on my lungs. A violent cough was the consequence, which increased in severity. I expected large quantities of phlegm and mucus. During the last winter, I became so much reduced that I was confined to my bed. The disease was attended with cold chills, high fevers, a dry cough, and in my throat I felt as if I was in the last stages of Consumption, and could not possibly get well. I was recommended to try ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM, which gave me relief in a short time. I believe it is the best preparation extant for all diseases of the throat and lungs; and I feel it my duty to say this much for my own case, so that others may try it, and get relief. Respectfully,

MATTHIAS FREEMAN.

We know Mr. Freeman well; & his statement above is correct.

COUNTRY LIFE.

Far from the city's dust and din,
In rural quietude we live,
We pass in rational employ
A quiet country life.
We have all needed balm and cure,
The precious boon of health;
A never wavering trust in God,
To us, the surest wealth.
When winter stern, and rude, and cold,
Puts on his crystal crown,
And 'neath his icy scepter's sway
The fields lie bare and brown,
We gather at the evening
To talk to read or sew;
Our clear wood-fire burns bright and high,
The tempests rudely blow.
And when the genial spring returns,
Her warm and balmy breath
Revivifies the sleeping flowers,
That seemed entombed in death,
And with her fairy wand brings forth
The orchard's snowy bloom,
Old Nature's offered cure-cup,
Of dew-distilled perfume.
Then comes the summer with her robes
Of soft and changeful green;
Burdens beneath her wealth of gifts,
She seems a royal queen.
Her twilight hours are dear to us,
Her sunset's purple haze,
The night bird's song among the hills,
That ends the day with praise.
And when chaste, sober autumn comes
With sad, averted face,
She finds within our grateful hearts
Her old accustomed place;
We love her Indian-summer's reign,
The splendor of her skies,
Her low winds 'mid the dying woods,
That mean like human sighs.
I love all Nature's glorious things—
The sky, the sea, the land,
For all these noble works of skill,
Were modeled by His hand;
I love the calm and even flow
Of my sweet country life,
Content to live, content to die,
An honest farmer's wife!

A Nevada Tragedy.—A Jealous Husband Butchered his Wife and Children.—A Death Struggle with the Object of his Jealousy.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 1.

A despatch from Austin, Nevada, tonight gives the particulars of a horrible tragedy in Smoky Valley, in that State. It seems that Christopher Reckstein had been for a long time jealous of his wife in consequence of attention paid to her by a young man named Norton, and they had frequent quarrels about him. Yesterday an Osterhaus went to Reckstein's house, and receiving no response to his demands for admission, broke open the door.
On the floor lay the naked body of Mrs. Reckstein cut to pieces, with the head split open. At her feet were the bodies of their two little girls, heads nearly severed from the bodies, and near by were the bodies of Reckstein and young Norton, grappled as in a death struggle. Reckstein grasped in his right hand a large bowie knife, covered with blood, and in Norton's right hand was a dragon pistol, two chambers of which were discharged.
There is no living witness to the terrible affair.

A Pleasant Situation.

Our young friend Parker went around the other evening to visit the two Miss Smiths. After conversing with them for awhile, Miss Susan excused herself for a few moments, and went up stairs. Presently Parker thought he heard her coming, and slipping behind the door he suggested that the other Miss Smith should tell Miss Susan that he had gone. But it wasn't Susan; it was old Mr. Smith in his slippers. As he entered he looked around and said to his daughter:
"Ah, ha! So Parker's gone, has he?
Good riddance, I was just comin' down to keep my eye on him. I hope he hasn't been proposin' to Mary Jane. I don't want any such lambent-jawed, redheaded idiot as that foolin' round here. He hasn't got the sense of a rutabaga turnip or money enough to buy a clean shirt. He gets none of my daughters. I'll shake the everlasting life out of him if I catch him here again, mind me!"
Just as he concluded, Susan came down, and not perceiving Parker,
she said:
"Thank goodness he's gone. That man is enough to provoke a saint.
I was awfully afraid he was going to stay and spend the evening, Mary Jane, I hope you didn't assume to come again?"
Then Parker didn't know where-to stay there or to bolt, while Mary Jane looked as if she would like to drop into the cellar. But Parker finally walked out, rushed down the front steps and went home meditating upon the emptiness of human happiness, and the uncertainty of Smiths. He has not called since, and his life thus far has been unclouded by the head of the Smith family.

WHY BARNEY WAS RETAINED.—
The "Editor's Drawer" of the April Harper has this: A firm dealing largely in coal in one of our cities, had in their service an Irishman named Barney. One day the head of the firm, irritated beyond endurance at one of Barney's blunders told him to go to the office and get his pay, and added: "You are so thick-headed I can't teach you any thing." "Begorra," says Barney, "I learnt one thing since I've been wid yel!" "What's that?" I asked his employer. "That shivteen hundred make a ton!" Barney was retained, or, to use the phraseology of a Southern gentleman who has just won the heart and hand of one of New York's most opulent widows, "he resumed the prin- al condition of his former rectitude."

RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—The North bound train on the Alabama and Chattanooga Railroad broke through the bridge over the Little Tombigbee river yesterday morning about 6 o'clock. The second span of the bridge on the south side of the draw gave way, which precipitated the engine, three loaded box cars and front end of the baggage car into the river. The engine and one box car were thrown into water twenty feet deep and both entirely submerged. The engineer, Mr.
McLinley, and the fireman were down with the engine, and were buried beneath the debris. A. G.
Chestnut, a brakeman, was seriously if not fatally injured. Up to 6 o'clock last evening the bodies of the engineer and fireman had not been recovered. The river is very high and still rising. It lacks seven feet of being up to high water mark. No reason is assigned as to whether the bridge was unsafe or recently washed out by the water.
No passengers were hurt.—Selma Times, 17th inst.

A recent letter written in the cabin of a Mississippi steamer, gives a vivid description of the overflow below Vicksburg. There is much in it that is appalling. It is hard to realize that an area of country as great as the State of New York and the scene of the most productive agricultural industry in the country is covered with a depth of water sufficient to drown any living thing that remains upon it, and that men must desert their homes to avoid the fate of the animals, which either perish in the water or starve upon barren knolls, which are their only refuge from drowning. But this is the actual condition of many hundreds of miles of country along the Mississippi.
Whether this destruction can be avoided by any means is yet an unsolved problem of science.

Feeding the Land.

John Johnston, the model farmer near Geneva, says that farmers should keep more stock and less land under the plow; make more manure, or at no distant day their harvest will fail, even on drained land. There is no other country where Mother Earth is so poorly fed as in this country.

It is not always safe to confide in anonymous scribblers. The newspaper should be careful not to lend its columns to one person for the purpose of abusing another over a fictitious signature. After all, the best way to settle such things is for men to do so privately and not carry their matters before the public—which has no sort of interest in them.—Montgomery Adve.

A colored Mississippi legislator lately proposed a bill to make each member of the legislature, present and future, a bona fide attorney and counsellor at law. His reasoning was direct; "For," said he, "if we know enough to make de laws,
why don't we practice um?"

A clergyman at Clarinda, Ohio, was away from home when the crisis began. He returned in the evening, and saw his wife standing at the bar of a saloon, singing as loud as she could yell. He supposed she was drunk, and entering the saloon, the tears rolling down his face, he said: "Come home, wife;
you have ruined me—drunk, drunk drunk!"

Boston, April 17.

Whashburne has been elected
United States Senator, having received one hundred and fifty-two votes.
The vote was as follows: Whole number of votes 267; necessary to a choice 134. W. B. Washburne, present G. v. nor, received 151;
Curtis 64; Dawes 29; Adams 15;
Scattering 9.

Washburne has twice defeated
Butler for gubernatorial nomination. This election is only until March 4th, 1875, when Sumner's term would have expired.

in Bald and Stone Mountains on Tuesday last, and that the trem-blings of the earth were felt for more than one hundred miles. Shocks are more severe than before. It is believed by scientists that an eruption is imminent.

It is rumored Baxter will declare martial law and make an onward

night or to-morrow.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills.

For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one could describe so universally required by every body as a cathartic medicine was ever anywhere. It is a medicine adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative. For the obvious reason, is that it cures the bowels and far more effectually than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cures them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that what it does, it does advantageously—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of the composition. No one doubts the beneficial effects of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions of the system, it is a safe and reliable medicine, and its use is recommended by the most eminent physicians. It may be taken with safety by any body. Their sugar-coating preserves them ever fresh, and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable, no harm can arise from their use.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate the healthy action of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs, restoring their regular action, and health, and by correcting whatever they exist, such derangements as are the result of disease.
Minute doses may be given in the wrapper
as a preventive of constipation, which these Pills readily cure.

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Flatu-lence, Gas, Acidity, &c., &c., the Pills should
